Had heard that Richard Chasmore was going away: had heard John Green's wife say she feared he was guilty, also Goodwife Carpenter and Stephen Arnold's wife. «Brush Hill (Milton) Mass.» The writer is anxious for news in her country solitude. "Our Society" met last night at Dr. Palmer's, who disparaged the mob incident of 1837, and advocated political abolitionism. The writer solicited articles for the fair from every woman present. In a letter to the writer Sophie Bradford said that she never wished to hear Mr. Winslow again because, on his return from the South, he, in a vestry meeting, praised the Southerners and told of finding the slaves much better treated than he expected, several saying that they would not accept freedom. Mr. Robbins attended "the railway churc[illegible]th E.Q. (Edmund Quincy) and said his lecture was excel[illegible].

«Lynn, Mass.» The writer maintains that she can moralize and philosophize, but is not good at describing. Mentions "$500 net proceeds" (at the Lynn Anti-Slavery Fair). The writer regrets "these internal divisions." Admitting that "lies are to be extinguished," the writer advocates a spirit of gentleness. "If our peace principles are good for anything they are good for everything."

To Francis Jackson Garrison No.85

.Warrington, England. The writer says the English think the South should have the right to choose its form of government. Says the North has no right to "interfere by force of arms in the government of the South." Deplores the Northern worship of the ideal of the Union. Says a long war will dampen Northern enthusiasm for the Union. Conquest of the South is an impossibility. Discusses the Canadian Revolution of 1837. Speaks of the overwhelming military power of the North. Regrets that the Abolitionists have sunk from the level of "Universal Men" to that of Americans. Criticizes the action of the American officials in t[illegible]n Jacinto case.

[Concord, (N.H.)] Says he has told his children about R. D. W. and his friends. Describes his passage in a transatlantic steamer. The food was bad. The trip took 12 1/2 days because of headwinds. "Boston showed small to us, impressed as we were with the magnificence of Dublin, Liverpool and Glasgow." The colored people gave a reception for Garrison and N. P. R. at the Marlborough Chapel. The New Organization welcomed N. Colver and E. Galusha, who claimed that Garrison had gone to the World's Anti-Slavery Convention more to help the women than to free the slaves. N. P. R. describes his return home. Mentions the [illegible]idential election. "Both parties are fawning upon the [illegible] for the favor of slaveholding patronage & suffrage." Wishes R. D. «Dover, N.H.» Hopes in a few weeks "to get wholly into the field of labour in behalf of our Cause," expecting to close his ministry in Dover about the first of June. The writer is going to Hanover next week to give a series of lectures to college students. Considers it desirable to spend a few weeks in this region and to make an excursion into Maine in the addressee's behalf before going south. Amos A. Phelps, in behalf of the new organization, also wishes the writer to labor for a while in Western Massachusetts. "I informed him that I had no objections if you were willing." When the cold weather comes on, the write[illegible]ld like to go south.
